Collabits Online Meetings Made Simple

True universal application sharing with complete security

Collabits offers the only workplace meeting and collaboration tool that enables 100% worker participation – regardless of computing platform – and the option of behind-the-firewall hosting security.

This makes Collabits Online Meetings the perfect way for teams or individuals to come together – regardless of location – and have on-going online meetings (scalable up to 100+ easily) with optimal security, speed and simplicity.

Collabits Online Meetings is the perfect solution for demonstrations of any kind, from training to product and sales demonstrations.

Key Features

True Multi-platform Support. While other products may allow all users to look on from the sidelines, Collabits is the only online meeting and collaboration venue that supports full application sharing among Windows, Linux and Mac users. That's true platform and software agnostic. You wouldn't limit offline meeting participation to a subset of employees or partners, so why would you choose an online venue that operated any differently?

True Security. While other online meeting products may merely encrypt your data, Collabits is the only online meeting and collaboration venue that offers complete encryption capabilities and the ability to host your meetings on your own internal servers as well as enabling shared or read-only document controls. This is true security, which also makes Collabits ideal for public or private chatting. You wouldn't hold your most sensitive company meetings under the prying eyes of the public, so why would you choose an online venue that operated any differently?

True Record & Playback. While other services dream of being able to record and playback sessions, Collabits is the only online meeting and collaboration venue that can do this. You wouldn't want to miss an important meeting just because a crisis occurred and had to leave, so why would you choose an online venue that operated any differently.

Pricing Made Simple

Yugma offers a three-tier pricing model for its users: Free, Standard and Professional. We can also install our service in-house, and we can easily service event collaboration needs of 100+ users. For pricing on all these, please call us for a quote.

Customer Testimonial

"Collabits has been a great tool in demonstrating our anti-spam software to potential customers around the globe, as well as training our channel partners on new features to our email filtering service."
